

MELANCHOLIA WITH LOW ACCOMMODATION – BLUR OUT POINTS & DUCTIONS

CASE HISTORY: Lady, 38 years, was very blue and cried a lot while talking to her and during examination. She would start to cry and made the remark very often that nothing could be done for her and she didn't care whether she got better or not and made no effort to help herself at all.

DESCRIPTION: Asthenic Type, in seeming good health. Nothing wrong that M. D. could find, was just despondent.

SYNTONIZATION: After the fourth treatment of N/L α v (alpha upsilon) the patient gave her first smile in the office. 18 more treatments of above and melancholia was practically gone. This patient turned out to be an uncorrected C type case who was very fond of the close, small needle work or fancy needle work. Am working on C type orthoptics at present time.

Submitted to the Oregon Academy of Syntonic Optometry on August 17, 1936.
